

Retiring before age 65? Congratulations!

But what about health insurance?
You may not be eligible yet for Medicare.

The Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act, known as COBRA, is a federal law that allows employees to continue their employer-provided health insurance after their employment ends due to a qualifying event such as retirement. However, qualified individuals are required to pay the entire premium for coverage up to 102% of the cost to the plan. This usually means a significant increase from the cost as an employee.

There could be better options than COBRA available to you.

Why not let the Health Wealth Connection help you shop for health insurance?

With one phone call you will be connected to a personal consultant who will be able to help you determine the right health insurance coverage for you.

You will be able to choose from a wide range of options including plans available on the Healthcare.gov Marketplace and similar government exchanges.

A licensed insurance agent can help you determine if you qualify for a premium tax credit that lowers your monthly insurance bill. This may drastically reduce your cost.
